Java Service

Your challenge

Java is an application platform used by most companies in the world, and recent changes by Oracle to the licensing rules mean that what customers used to be able to access for free has now been replaced with an expensive 'all-employee' licensing model.

But not all Java needs a commercial license from Oracle. Understanding the different licensing models and the quantities of each that are used within an organization is critical to understanding if a commercial Java license is required. Again, getting this wrong can cost organizations hundreds of thousands, or millions of dollars.

How we help

Livingstone's Java Service helps you to identify Java on your environments and gives you an understanding of the licensing requirements. This is critical to understanding if a commercial license purchase is the correct strategic decision.

You get

- An exhaustive review of any existing Oracle Java license entitlement
- Forensic analysis of all Java installations within an organization
- Multivariate Analysis of inventory data
- Risk Mitigation or Commercial Optimization Consultancy

Audit Defense Service

Your challenge

Oracle is the most aggressive and predatory of all the major software publishers when it comes to software audits. With audit teams around the world, no matter a customer's size or geographic location, if an organization bought Oracle software, it's a matter of when, not if they'll be audited. Most customers lack the internal expertise needed to conduct the audit, challenge findings or defend positions effectively. This can result in settlement fees of more than a million dollars or even worse.

How we help

Livingstone's audit defense service is about mitigating financial and operational risks, ensuring compliance, and positioning your organization for better control over your software investments both now and in the future.

You get

- Comprehensive knowledge of the Oracle audit process
- Exhaustive review of a license entitlement
- Forensic internal review of Oracle software usage
- Ex-Oracle auditors on your side
- Settlement negotiation & audit closure

ULA Service

Your challenge

Oracle ULAs or Unlimited License Agreements are one of Oracle's most expensive software agreements. These agreements provide customers with an unlimited deployment right of products named in the agreement for a specific period, usually 3 or 5 years.

ULAs were designed for customers who were rapidly increasing their deployment of Oracle products, but that's not typically why customers buy them. Most buy these agreements as the result of a compliance issue in an audit or as a protection against a future audit. This often means that if you have a ULA, you are paying for software and support you will never use.

How we help

Livingstone's ULA service can help you to right-size your ULA if you are considering entering one, resize an existing ULA, or certify out if you want to exit.

You get

- Forensic analysis of use of Oracle software in your environment
- Deep understanding of Oracle licensing rules, metrics and policies
- Transparent Effective License Position (ELP)
- Risk Mitigation and Estate Optimization
- Comprehensive understanding Certification process

Combined with a forensic view of entitlement, licenses, CSI and ordering documents, significant cost savings and cost avoidance can be achieved.
